- ☐ I approve the chain, metal, and fit before welding. I understand the fit can't be changed after welding without cutting the chain.

Welding Safety

- ☐ I understand the welder makes a small, quick spark and flash of light, with brief heat at the connecting ring.
- ☐ I understand a protective patch or shield will be placed under the weld point to protect my skin. I will hold still during welding.
- ☐ I will look away or wear the eye protection given to me during welding.
- ☐ I understand I may feel brief warmth, and a small burn or mark on the skin is possible.

Metal Allergies

- ☐ No
- ☐ I understand that even quality metals can contain small amounts of other metals. If I have a reaction, I will have the chain removed and see a doctor if needed.

Removal

- ☐ I understand the chain can be removed quickly by cutting the jump ring (the small connecting ring) with scissors or wire cutters.
- ☐ I will remove the chain, or let medical staff remove it, before an MRI, surgery, X-ray, or other procedure if asked. I understand medical staff may cut it off in an emergency.
- ☐ If the area swells from an injury, pregnancy, or allergic reaction, I will have the chain removed.
- ☐ I understand the studio's re-weld policy: _____

Catching Hazard

- ☐ I understand the chain can catch on machinery, sports gear, clothing, hair, or pets. Catching can cause injury or break the chain. I will take care, or have it removed, for activities where this is a risk.
- ☐ I understand some jobs have rules about wearing jewelry. Checking those rules is my responsibility.

Care and Wear

- ☐ I understand chains can wear, stretch, tarnish, or break over time, depending on the metal and how I wear it.
- ☐ I understand lotions, chlorine, and salt water may affect the finish of some metals.

Refunds

- ☐ I understand that once the chain is welded, it's custom fit and the sale is final. No refunds are given after welding, including if I cut it off later.
- ☐ I understand the studio's repair policy: _____

Release

- ☐ I release _____ and _____ from all liability for any injuries or claims arising from the jewelry or the welding process, except in cases of gross negligence.
